BUCK'S BACK

Buckner Winfield, director of Emory University's School of Business Administration Program for Non-Profit Agencies and the managing partner of the Winfield Group, a consulting firm serving exclusively the non-profit sector, will be the workshop leader for the Shelton State's next Building Better Boards for Community Organizations program. The seminar, "Fund-Raising, Special Events, and Public/Private Partnerships for Non-Profits," will be held from 9 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. in the Junior College auditorium, 202 Skyland Blvd., on Wednesday, September 12, 1984.

Before joining Emory University, Winfield was a non-profit agency director and holds an M.B.A. from Emory University and the London Business School of Economics, and an M.Ed. from the University of North Carolina. Through his consulting firm, Winfield serves as a workshop leader for a wide variety of social-service organizations located in nine states.

Some of the topics covered in the workshop include learning how to form public-private partnerships with local business, determining foundation's funding patterns, learning how to design and promote special events, learning the tax deductions that can be offered businesses, and acquiring successful marketing tools.

Workshop cost is $50. For more information or to register for the workshop, contact Lucy Kubiszyn at 759-1541.

FIRE COLLEGE PERSONNEL RECEIVE AWARDS

The Alabama State Fire College, a segment of the Technical Division of Shelton State Community College, received two coveted awards for excellence during the Alabama Water and Pollution Control Association convention held recently in Mobile.

Two Fire College instructors received the highest awards made by the Association toward the advancement of water and wastewater. Ken Baugher of Decatur received the Charles White Award for water control while The Bolton-Crockett-Beck Award for wastewater control went to Charles Faulk of Selma.

COMMUNITY BAND SCHEDULED

Shelton State will sponsor the West Alabama Community Band this fall under the direction of Tom Hunter. The first meeting of the band will be Thursday, September 13, at Eastwood Junior High School. Weekly practices will be held and three performances are scheduled during the year.

The band is open to anyone who has ever played with a band and to high school students who have the written permission of their band director. There will be no auditions.

If you are interested in being a part of the WACB, call Shelton State at 759-1541.

SHELTON ADDS FOUR NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Shelton State adds four new faculty members to the Junior College Division for the 1984-85 year. Katherine Hubbard Burkhalter, Norva M. (Lee) Fanning, and Gladys D. Hill join Shelton's nursing program and Dr. Richard W. Saylor is the new instructor of chemistry for the college.

Ms. Burkhalter is a graduate of the University of Alabama and is currently enrolled in the University's doctoral program. She was an assistant professor at the Capstone College of Nursing at the University before joining Shelton State

Ms. Fanning received her B.S.N. degree from the University of Alabama/Birmingham and her M.S.N. degree from Mississippi University for Women. Before joining Shelton, she was a staff nurse in the Care Unit of Hale Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Hill comes to Shelton from West Alabama General Hospital where she served as a medical/surgical staff nurse. She received her B.S. degree from the University of Alabama and her M.S. degree from Mississippi University for Women.

Dr. Richard W. Saylor is the new chemistry instructor and comes to Shelton State from Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. He received his Ph.D. and M.S. degrees from the University of Miami and his B.S. degree from Manchester College in North Manchester, Indiana.

NATIONALLY ACCLAIMED AUTHORITY ON NONPROFITS TO VISIT SHELTON

Andrew Swanson, a nationally known authority on the nonprofit sector and author of many books on voluntary boards of directors, will be the workshop leader for a workshop scheduled for Wednesday, October 17, from 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. in the junior college auditorium. Swanson will talk on "Seventeen Myths Many Boards Live By and Developing Future Leadership for Your Board." The cost is $25 per person. A half price discount will be given the second person attending from the same agency or organization. For information on the workshop, contact Lucy Kubiszyn, Building Better Boards project direction, 759-1541.

1984-85 ART EXHIBITIONS

Shelton State announces the schedule of its fifth year of original art exhibitions, a program designed to provide students as well as members of the community with opportunities to experience a wide variety of artistic media and presentations. This year's program will include contemporary acrylic paintings, utilitarian and decorative weavings, photographs of the American Ballet Theatre by famed photographer Francesco Scavullo, as well as primitive paintings and sculptures by southerner Benny Andrews.

Local craftsman Marsh Patterson will be the first exhibitor for the year. A weaver, Ms. Patterson has exhibited with the Weavers Guild and in crafts fairs throughout the Southeast. She has received a B.F.A. and an M.A. degree from the University of Alabama.

The exhibit will be on display through September 20 in the library of the Junior College Division. The library is open 9 a.m. - 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. on Friday.

BUCCANEER ATHLETIC CLUB

The Buccaneer Athletic Club, a support group for Shelton's newly formed baseball team, has been formed and is currently holding a membership drive. Dues are $25 per family and all money will be used for the benefit of the players, according to head coach Jack Kubiszyn.

An exhibition game and barbecue will be held on Sunday, September 16, at the Buccaneer baseball field located at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Tickets for the barbecue are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children. The exhibition game will be free and open to the public.

For more information on the program or to purchase tickets, contact Kubiszyn at 345-5650 or Shelton State at 759-1541.

SHELTON FOUNDATION ESTABLISHED

The Shelton State Foundation has been established under the laws of Alabama and will be operational by fall. The Foundation is a non-profit organization that is designed to provide support for Shelton State Community College.

Serving on the Board of Directors from the community are Sam Faucett, Lem Morrison, Sandra Abston, Mrs. C. J. Hartley, Tommy Hester, John Bivens, Hayse McGahey, Diane Barnes, William A. (Sonny) Ryan, Jack Kubiszyn, Victor Poole, Bill McFarland, Billy Blakeney, Samuel "Bo" Fields, and Robert Reynolds. Britt Turner represents the Junior College Division and Lyda Black the Technical Division.

Serving as ex-officio members of the Foundation are Dr. Leo Sumner, Dr. Arthur Howington, Dr. Thomas E. Umphrey, Hugh Kynard, and Jim Hunter. Lucy Kubiszyn is acting director and Lorine Lowe is the Foundation secretary.

CORDER NAMED OUTSTANDING INSTRUCTOR

Melvin Corder, instructor of computerized numerical control for the Technical Division of Shelton State Community College, was named the Outstanding Instructor of 1984 for Technical - Trade Industrial Education in Postsecondary Education for the State of Alabama.

Corder, a Tuscaloosa County native, is a graduate of Brookwood High School and received his B.S. degree from the University of Alabama. He has done graduate work at the University of Central Florida. He joined Shelton State Technical Division in 1965.

Under his leadership, the numerical control department was designated in 1971 by the State Board of Education as the state training center for training in numerical control. The program was expanded in 1982 to include a computerized numerical control turning center, a vertical machining center, and an in-house computer system for computer assist parts program.

In 1983 the college purchased a coordinate measuring machine as well as other quality control equipment. The training in the quality control section was integrated within the overall program.

Last fall Cincinnati Millicron, a nationwide machine tool manufacturer, donated a vertical computerized numerical control machining center valued at more than $100,000. This vertical CNC machining center was added to the coordinate measuring machine which was a horizontal operation.

The computerized numerical control program at Shelton has been closely associated with the Tuscaloosa County Industrial Development Authority and The Chamber of Commerce of West Alabama in efforts to attract new industry to West Alabama.

UMPHREY TO SPEAK AT SSAA

Dr. Tom Umphrey, dean of special programs for Shelton and currently acting president for Bessemer State Technical College, will be the keynote speaker for the first meeting of the Shelton State Alumni Association scheduled for Tuesday, September 25, in the learning resource center of Shelton State Technical Division. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m.

A major thrust this year by the SSAA will be to involve current and former students as well as faculty of the Technical Division into the mainstream of activities offered by the Association. Anyone who has attended either division of Shelton State Community College for at least one quarter is eligible for membership in the SSAA and is invited to attend the meeting.
